"Spring is cheery, Winter is dreary Green leaves hang, but the brown must fly; When he is shaken, Love and forsaken, What an old maid do but die!"

Why, take that old maid to be sure, and with them a new lot of life. The old are made young again, the middle aged rejoice, and the young become doubly brilliant by using this splendid tonic, Dyspepsia, Heartburn, Liver Complaint, Headache, Pains in the side, "Crick in the Back," and all symptoms of Stomachic Derangement yield at once to the health-giving influence of this tonic.

THE CAMPAIGN!

TOWNSHIP MEETINGS.

"Behold how Brightly Breaks the Morn."

A Democratic meeting was held in Navarre this County, on Tuesday evening last. Mr. C. A. Fairbanks addressed the assembly.

From the Committee on Fire Department, (Mr. Myers), that Washington Fire Company objected to having their engine house appropriated for the Steam Engine, and thought it would be best for the Committee to wait upon Capt. Oberly and try to settle the matter so as to have the least trouble and ill-feeling; accepted.

Mr. Anderson of the same Committee, was of opinion that the stable for the city horses should be built next to the Washington Engine house, and it depended upon the Council whether they would adhere to their fixed purpose or not.

Mr. Schaefer thought that if the subject was properly represented to Capt. Oberly and the Washington Company that the necessities of the case demanded another locality for the Engine house, that they would not certainly hold out against the determination of the Council. He was in favor of carrying out Davy Crockett's maxim, "Be sure you're right, then go ahead," whatever might stand in the way, and was in favor of "reconstruction" in this case.

On Thursday evening there was a gathering of the Democracy at New Berlin, a which also Mr. Fairbanks spoke; the people there also were fully aroused. They are tired of hatred and turmoil, and strife and high taxes. The Democrats of New Berlin are wide awake to the importance of the contest.

On the following evening, (Friday), there was a large Democratic meeting at Paris—The Robertville Marital Band led a procession upon the ground, and discoursed some stirring music, and every one present was delighted with the able speech of Mr. Fairbanks. There must have been five hundred voters present.

The anxiety and determination plainly impressed on the countenance of each one to ride Ohio, and the nation, of such Radical mischief; for right long and weary years the dominant party in power has been a menace to the people, never sought to lessen in the least the enormous burden of the struggling tax payers. It is broken, indeed, a long, dark night, but light is breaking in perspective.

And still another Union Democratic meeting assembled at Union on Saturday evening last, and Mr. Fairbanks delivered one of his most impressive speeches. Those present were full of enthusiasm. The wrongs of the enormous debt was shown up in a telling manner—where is the hope when the debt is increasing every month? Many Republicans were present and listened attentively. The Osnabrugh Marital Band paraded the street, discoursing good music. A procession from the east part of the township came in with an excellent martial band. A McGreggor was called out and held forth for over half an hour.

In Memoriam. At a special communication of Canton Lodge No. 40, of Free and Accepted Masons, held August 19th, 1888, the brethren having been advised of the death of Brother George W. Belden, agreed that inasmuch as it had pleased the Bountiful Master of the Grand Lodge above to summon our beloved friend and brother from labor to final reward. While we know the high degree that forbids him longer blending his designs with our own upon our earthly Tenet, and while we shall ever cherish in our memory the public and private virtues of our departed brother, we have

THE FUNERAL OF THE CARPET BAGGER.

Not a drum was heard, not a funeral note, As he corse to oblivion we hurried, Not a groan escaped from an honest man's throat.

When the Carpet-Bagger was buried.

We buried him deep, in the dirty soil, So deep that they'll never find him, Unless some Jacobin boring for oil. By the dirty soil should discover him.

His coffin was made of ballot-box stuff, With white men's votes we bound him, And he looked like a ballot taking his snuff With Hartsfield's razor around his snuff.

Few and short were the speeches we made, And we sung not a dirge, but a dirge, But his body and spirits together we laid, Just out of our hostile men's city.

And as we were lastly Ambling back, 'Twas said, if the dirge didn't take him, We'll quietly sleep in the grave to sleep, Till the trumpet of Gabriel wake him.

And now farewell to the Carpet-Bag race; Shoddy tramps at last we've got under, Let every one live by the sweat of his face, And cease honest people to plunder.

"HELP US, NIGGERS, OR WE SINK." The night was dark and doleful too, Each moment brings us trouble new, We tremble on Perdition's brink, O, help us, "Niggers," or we sink!

We swear we love your color well, We'll paint ourselves as black as hell, We'll hug you tight, and never blink, O, help us, "Niggers," or we sink!

Upon the street we'll give you greetings, And make you Chairmen of our meetings, We'll treat, and pay for every drink, O, help us, "Niggers," or we sink!

Our pecks of dirt we'll gladly cast, Until the Democrats we beat, Then, by the Lord, we'll turn our coat, And load you, "Niggers," by the throat.
